Dear Hiring Manager,
I am enthusiastically introducing myself as a Full Stack Developer and expressing my interest in joining your team.

I have completed solid training as a Web Application Development Technician, complemented by a specialization course in Big Data and Artificial Intelligence which has allowed me to work in both user interface development and the creation of robust backend architectures, always prioritizing quality and user experience.

Additionally, I have experience creating interactive dashboards to visualize data and facilitate strategic decision-making (business intelligence).

I hope my profile is a good fit for your needs and I am available to provide further information during a possible interview.

I remain at your disposal and cordially greet you.

Sincerely,

Sergio Navarro Jarana.
